References	34
Chapter 3 Elements of Neurology Essential for Understanding the Aphasias	37
Constantin Potagas, Dimitrios S. Kasselimis, and Ioannis Evdokimidis
Introduction	37
Elements of the Nervous System	37
A More Detailed View of the Cerebral Cortex	45
Methods for the Study of the Nervous System and the Brain	47
Elements of Clinical Neurology	51

	Cerebral Representation of Language	53
	Types of Aphasia, Typical Lesion Locations, and Typical Signs and Symptoms	56
	Notes	59
	Acknowledgments	60
	References.	60
Chapter 4	Plasticity and Recovery in Aphasia	63
	Ilias Papathanasiou, Patrick Coppens, Edith Durand, and Ana Inés Ansaldo
	Introduction	63
	The Concepts of Plasticity and Recovery	64
	Prognostic Factors of Recovery	66
	Biochemical and Physiologic Mechanisms of Recovery	68
	Structural Mechanisms of Recovery	69
	Behavioral Mechanisms of Recovery	69
	Language Recovery in The Brain.	71
	The Link Between Plasticity, Behavior, and Therapy.	73
	Reconceptualizing Aphasia and Aphasia Therapy	74
	Future Directions	76
	Notes	77
	References.	77
Chapter 5	Formal and Informal Assessment of Aphasia	81
	Laura Murray and Patrick Coppens
	Introduction	81
	Formal Assessment: Purposes.	83
	Formal Assessment: Test Constructs and Procedures	84
	Informal Assessment: Logic, Purposes, and Procedures	91
	Assessing the Person with Aphasia.	95
	Ongoing Data Collection	97
	Assessment Procedures: Some Additional Dos and Don'ts.	98
	Future Directions	100
	Case Illustration 5.1	101
	References.	103
Chapter 6	Therapy Approaches to Aphasia	109
	Linda Worrall, Sue Sherratt, and Ilias Papathanasiou
	Introduction	109
	What is Therapy?	109
	Who is the Target of Therapy?.	112
	When?	113
	Why?	115
	How?	118
	Conclusions and Future Directions.	121
	Case Illustration 6.1	121
	References.	124
Chapter 7	Extralinguistic Cognitive Consideration in Aphasia Management	129
	Laura Murray and Jamie Mayer
	Introduction	129
	Cognitive Domains and Constructs.	130
	Extralinguistic Cognitive Impairments in Aphasia	131
	Assessment	133
	Treatment	139
	Future Directions	142

	Case Illustration 7.1	143
	References.	145
Chapter 8	Disorders of Auditory Comprehension	151
	Julie Morris and Sue Franklin
	Introduction	151
	Models of Normal Auditory Processing	151
	Disorders of Auditory Comprehension.	153
	Assessment of Auditory Comprehension	155
	Intervention Approaches	160
	Future Directions	164
	Case Illustration 8.1	165
	Note	166
	References.	166
Chapter 9	Disorders of Word Production	169
	Nadine Martin
	Introduction	169
	Models of Word Production: Theoretical and Empirical Foundations.	170
	Application of Cognitive/Psycholinguistic Models of Word Production to the Diagnosis Of Word Production Disorders In Aphasia.	174
	Treatment of Word Retrieval Disorders	183
	Future Directions	188
	Case Illustration 9.1	188
	Case Illustration 9.2	190
	Acknowledgments	192
	References.	192
Chapter 10	The Acquired Disorders of Reading	195
	Ellyn A. Riley, C. Elizabeth Brookshire, and Diane L. Kendall
	Introduction	195
	Dual-Route Models.	195
	Connectionist Models.	197
	Acquired Alexia.	198
	Assessment	202
	Intervention	204
	Future Directions	212
	Case Illustration 10.1	215
	References.	216
Chapter 11	Written Language and Its Impairments	219
	Ilias Papathanasiou and Zsolt Cséfalvay
	Introduction	219
	What is Written Language?	219
	Classification of Written Language Disorders and Their Neuroanatomic Substrates	220
	Assessment of Writing Disorders	229
	Intervention Approaches to Writing Disorders	231
	Conclusions and Future Directions.	238
	Case Illustration 11.1	239
	References.	241
Chapter 12	Disorders of Sentence Processing in Aphasia	245
	Jane Marshall
	Introduction	245
	Agrammatism and Paragrammatism	246

	Sentence Complexity	247
	A Sentence-Processing Model	247
	Structural Impairments	247
	Case Illustration 12.1: Therapy at the Level of the Event	249
	Case Illustration 12.2: Mapping Therapy With A.E.R.	252
	Case Illustration 12.3: TUF Treatment Protocol for Training Object wh- Questions	254
	Verb Impairments	255
	Impairments with Grammatical Morphology	257
	Competence Versus Performance	260
	Agrammatism and Conversation	261
	Conclusions and Future Directions	262
	Notes	263
	References	263
Chapter 13	Approaches to Assessment and Treatment of Everyday Talk in Aphasia	269
